Trivial Pursuit, Baby Boomers Edition - A Great Game for Families

If you want a board game that the whole family can enjoy, the Trivial Pursuit Baby Boomers Edition is the board game for you. This board game is not only enjoyable, but it will also enhance your knowledge about the baby boomers generation.

First of all, in order to understand this game, you have to know how to play it. Trivial Pursuit is a board game that challenges the ability of all players on general knowledge, and other popular culture questions. In the Trivial Pursuit Baby Boomers Edition, you should expect questions that are related to the baby boomer era from 1950 to the early 1960's.

Questions will be about television, nightly news, stage and screen, lives and times, publishing and R.P.M. All the questions in each category are related to the baby boomers generation. This means that in order to win the game, you should have sufficient knowledge about the baby boomers era. The Trivial Pursuit Baby Boomers Edition is a very popular board game among people who were born in this era. Besides, who would know about this era better than people who actually lived through this era?

To start playing the game, you will move along the circular track and the spokes by answering the questions correctly in each of the six categories. The "Headquarters" is located at the base of each spoke. In order to win the game, the player or the team should be able to answer the game-winning question in the hexagonal hub. The question in a particular category is chosen by other players.

The first thing you do when you play Trivial Pursuit, you and the other players will first select one token and six colored wedges with different color categories. The players will then roll the dice in order to decide who goes first.

In the Trivial Pursuit Baby Boomers Edition, you will see that each of the colored categories corresponds with different questions about a particular subject. Here are the colors and what category it is in the Trivial Pursuit Baby Boomers Edition:

- Blue - Television (TV)
- Pink - Stage + Screen (SS)
- Yellow - Nightly News (NN)

- Brown - Publishing (PUB)
- Green - Lives + Times (LT)
- Orange - R.P.M. (RPM)

As you can see, there are six categories that you have to answer correctly in order to win.
