

Title:

A Bunn Coffee Maker - Its The Best!

Word Count:

509

Summary:

When it comes to brewing coffee for small or large crowds, the Bunn coffee maker is rated one of the best. Consumers will find a Bunn coffee maker not only in homes, but also in convenience stores, offices, hotels, and restaurants and even cruise ships. Bunn is a leading manufacturer of coffee makers in the world, with services to over ninety countries around the globe.

Bunn coffee makers are designed for home, commercial and industrial use. Their exceptional quality and s...

Keywords:

coffee, coffee maker, bunn coffee maker

Article Body:

When it comes to brewing coffee for small or large crowds, the Bunn coffee maker is rated one of the best. Consumers will find a Bunn coffee maker not only in homes, but also in convenience stores, offices, hotels, and restaurants and even cruise ships. Bunn is a leading manufacturer of coffee makers in the world, with services to over ninety countries around the globe.

Bunn coffee makers are designed for home, commercial and industrial use. Their exceptional quality and sturdy design makes them a favorite with both small and large businesses. Bunn began in the coffee business in the late 1950's, founding the Bunn-O-Matic Corporation. In the early 1960's, Bunn was the first to introduce the paper coffee filter and the new design of 'automatic drip' coffeemakers.

Every so slowly, the old fashioned percolator type coffee brewer made way for the new automatic drip coffee maker that's still in wide use today. Bunn is known for their great coffee makers, and their reputation is well regarded throughout the globe for their premium brewing and beverage equipment and customer service.

Today, Bunn designers continue to churn out new coffee makers that can create not only great coffee but also espresso and juice beverages. A Bunn coffee maker maintains a water reservoir that keeps water at an optimum brewing temperature of around 200 degrees for industrial brewers, though a home version will only heat water until it reaches the coffee basket for safer use.

A Bunn coffee maker can brew a fantastic cup of coffee in about three minutes, while most coffee makers take twice as long, or until all the water is used up, making for a more bitter tasting coffee. And with most coffee makers, but not a Bunn, water drips through the coffee in the basket unevenly, while with a Bunn coffee maker, a spray head designs gets all of the coffee saturated in order to create an even tasting brew.

Even if you don't know anything about different coffee makers, a coffee drinker will be able to taste the difference between coffee brewed in a cheap coffee maker and a Bunn coffee maker.

The home version of a Bunn coffee maker offers a simple black or white design in a moderately sized coffee maker that will hold about ten cups of coffee. It comes with a sliding lid for easy access to the coffee and water reservoir, and will brew the full pot of coffee in about three minutes.

A stainless steel water reservoir keeps the internal temperature of the water at an ideal temperature for a great pot of coffee. A switch will turn the heat off in the reservoir while a warming plate keeps coffee warm without scalding. For a great cup of coffee every time you brew, try a Bunn coffee maker. Moderately priced and designed in a variety of styles and models, Bunn coffee maker manufacturers have dedicated themselves to coffee for decades. For the best cup of coffee you've tasted in a long time, try a cup from a Bunn coffee maker.