Have you ever felt like you've missed something really big? That opportunity has passed you up and there's really no time to gain that opportunity back?

People too often go through life regretting the opportunities that they didn't take, and very seldom regret the one's that they at least tried for.

On the other hand, opportunities do come and go, yet some are much more rewarding than others. Some have the unique potential to change your life, as well as any other lives that it touches.

In surfing, the key to catching the best wave is not just to be out in the ocean with the waves, but to be in precise positioning in front of the wave. Too far ahead of the wave and you're likely going to get pummeled or miss it all together...and if you're too far behind the wave you get to watch as the other surfers get the ride of their lives, and you're left only to hear about it back on shore.

In business small waves come and go and little successes are obtainable, but only ever so often does a big wave come...and when it does you definitely want to be right in front of it in the perfect position to ride it for all it's worth. That's life changing!

Right now, there's a tremendous chance for you to catch a wave that's just beginning to swell, and it's called Agel! Agel Enterprises is a network marketing company that's truly in a very unique position.

Over the years in the home business industry the catch phrase "ground floor opportunity" has become so overused and tainted that it's almost a silly cliché now. The true meaning of a ground floor opportunity is that you're in the beginning of not only a new company (there are tons of new companies starting every day), but that you are in the beginning of an entire industry...or something that's about to revolutionize an entire industry.

Agel falls into the category of revolutionizing actually two industries...the health supplement industry, as well as the network marketing industry itself.

Let's first talk about the network marketing industry. Already being one of the greatest roads to wealth and financial independence, the network marketing industry has needed a bit of a make over, and the founders of Agel have recognized and acted to fix this.

The main thing that Agel has done for the network marketing and home business industry is to make it much, much easier for anybody just starting out in the industry to make money quickly, and taste success at an early stage in their business. Furthermore from there they are able to keep increasing that wealth off of the leverage of others for eternity with a company that's growing at record speeds and expanding daily.

The reason is that Agel has taken the best of the industries top four types of compensation plans, kept what was great about them, and threw out what didn't seem to work. This has led to the creation of what's now known as the Quadra Plan and is producing wealth extremely quickly for many people who are completely green to the network marketing industry.

On top of this they've assembled a quality of leadership unlike any before. Agel has more top shelf corporate level performers as well as top of the heap, most successful network marketers of all time - who have drastically succeeded on their own merits in the industry, and have trained thousands of people to succeed in this business. What this means is that you've got a compensation plan meant to pay off quickly to those who are willing to work, plus people at the top who are experienced at training people just like you to succeed beyond their wildest dreams.

Now, combine this with the fact that Agel is revolutionizing the health and wellness world with innovative, and never before seen products that are totally natural, and designed to allow the body to assimilate and absorb its nutritious qualities most efficiently and effectively. You've got one of the most unique opportunities in the world to be at the TRUE "Ground Floor" of not just the beginning of another "me too" company - but of basically two entire industries.
