There are certain algorithms and equations used in the MP3 format that are quite similar to those used in the JPG while compressing photographs. If you have ever noticed then you would find that a JPG photo is not quite the same as the original one. There are certain blurred parts, blotches and some minor flaws that could not be easily noticed by a casual observer and this is due to the file compression.

There are mainly two reasons why free Mp3 music downloads are widely available whereby the first one is that some musicians having the real talent find it quite hard to get into the music business. Many artists who have actually made it are groomed by the recording industry moguls to look and sound the way so as to cater the wants and music preference of the masses. It is also true and doesn't seem nice but the struggling musicians have to cope up with it. So if you want to be successful you have to make certain compromises and those who are not willing to change or compromise can find them frustrated for having no outlets fro their talents.

Many online websites are there that offer opportunities for unsigned artists so that they could publish their work. Online users shall find free MP3 music downloads by these artists whereby they can listen to it and also judge its sound. Many artists are being discovered in this manner so free MP3 music downloads served as a portal to let the general public know about their existence.

Another important reason is that free Mp3 music downloads are being offered in the theory that people use it in product sampling. With free Mp3 music downloads, you can sample the work of any new artist, listen its few tracks before going out to the record store so as to buy it.
