

The Al Khaleej Hotel in Dubai

Vacationing in exotic regions of the world is a very exciting prospect. A prime example of a great hotel in a mysterious place is the Al Kahaleej Hotel Dubai. This establishment offers a realistic look at life in the Middle East. The hotel is clean and straightforward. There is nothing complex about the inn which is part of its charm.

The rooms are remarkably quiet even though the building is in a busy area. The Al Kahaleej Hotel Dubai is right in the heart of the city's business district making it the ideal location for people who are not familiar with the area. This district next to the Dubai hotel is brimming with interesting places to see.

The Al Kahaleej inn I close to restaurants that boast great food at very reasonable prices. You can enjoy the benefits of being very close to a public transportation station that offers buses and water taxis for unique travel experiences. Some may not want to go anywhere at first and simply enjoy the fine Italian restaurant located right inside the Al Kahaleej Hotel.

There are some things to keep in mind when preparing a visit to this region of the world. Customs and social norms should be observed and respected. This simply takes a little reservation and self control. There are also things to keep in mind while packing your bags for the Al Kahaleej Hotel Dubai as well.

The city of Dubai is actually liberal compared to other cities in this part of the world. However, this is relative to the area. Pack relatively conservative clothing that does not show too much skin. Shorts are fine when visiting the beach but it isn't appropriate for many other places.

Consider wearing the most conservative clothing that keeps you covered in mosques and museums. There are western-themed regions near the Al Kahaleej Hotel Dubai that are not so rigid about clothing. Don't worry about getting too hot. The air conditioning is unbelievably cold.

As a general rule, it is best to keep shoulders and midriffs covered. Avoid wearing shorts unless you are visiting the beach. Speaking of the beach in Dubai, remember to bring suntan lotion. This product isn't really popular in that region and it is remarkably expensive. Keep sunglasses with you during the day. You will need them.

Enjoying a stay at the Al Kahaleej Hotel Dubai is simple. This no frills inn offers so much in a clean, simplistic fashion that is conducive to a very relaxing stay.
