MySpace has many users and it is the largest networking community on the Internet. Because many users are joining every day, the interests of people will vary. They will prefer to look at various MySpace layouts. Many groups have been formed in this community all based on themes. They could be music related or science related.

Some users will mention their interests in a way that visitors will be attracted to their profiles. Their main goal will be to form groups with people who have similar interests. So to make their profile more interesting they will access free MySpace layouts when they want. They will apply these to the profile and they will make it more interesting.

MySpace layouts became very popular because of the number of users. Although there are millions there are thousands joining every day. Thus the default settings are becoming boring for everybody. The features are also very different from other networking sites. Thus using various layouts became a kind of a norm among users.

MySpace layouts also became popular because it offers various themes. The themes are of various categories and they are arranged accordingly. The layouts are extremely popular because they are free of cost. Besides being free of cost they are available on hundreds of sites. All they have is one simple code, and users just have to copy and paste onto their homepage.

Because of these features, MySpace layouts became highly popular. They can also be changed often and can be chosen according to the interest of the users. There are no technical complexities with the use of these layouts. The use is very simple and also exciting at the same time. It is exciting because users can find almost any theme they are looking for.

If anyone is a movie fan they will find movie-based layouts, and if they are music fans they will find themes of music bands. So because members can find any theme with various looks MySpace layouts became popular. They are also being updated every day and designers are coming up with new designs almost every day.

Members will never get bored as they have a variety to choose from. So every week they may also change the layouts as they please. Since the community is huge all members will use various layouts. So very few may be repeated and this will make it more interesting for people who are reading more profiles.

The popularity of MySpace layouts grew because you can relate any kind of theme to the content of the profile. If you want to promote your interests you can accordingly choose the layout. The layouts are also easy when it comes to navigation while picking them. They may just scroll down to a category and pick one that is appealing.
