SIP or Session Initiated Protocol is one of the most popular methods of Internet Telephony today. Wikipedia defines SIP as "an application-layer control (signaling) protocol for creating, modifying, and terminating sessions with one or more participants." Such sessions include not only Internet telephony but also other applications such as multimedia distribution and conferences.
Offering many convenient features, SIP is extensively used today in VoIP or Voice over Internet Protocol.

SIP offers the following conveniences to its users:
- It is extremely lightweight and simple to use
- It is independent of transport, as it can be used with a variety of applications such as TCP, UDP, ATM and so forth Probably the best feature of SIP is that it is text-based, so it allows its users to read SIP messages with ease SIP is now extensively used for messaging to connect SIP Enabled PBXes and SIP user agents, thus establishing a VoIP network between them. Now SIP has emerged to become far more popular, for voice networking and transmission, than traditional telephony and fixed-line circuits.
